KEY FACTS ABOUT THE CITY

With its 99 529 inhabitants, Olomouc is the 6th largest city in the Czech Republic and a centre of the fertile Haná region the second largest (after Prague) National Historic Reserve in the Czech Republic located at the heart of Moravia, whose capital it was in the past now the seat of an ancient University, an Archdiocese, the Moravian Philharmonic Orchestra, and interesting museums and theaters you can relax in the city's vast parks, the large Zoo, the modern aqua park, the swimming arena or the nature reserve Litovelské Pomoraví with cycling paths.

Climate

The lowland of the Haná region, in whose centre Olomouc is located, is one of the warmest areas in the country. The climate is very pleasant without dramatic shifts in temperature.

In spring and autumn daytime temperatures are usually between 15-20 °C and in summer at about 25 °C, days with temperatures around 30 °C are quite common as well.

The coldest winter month is January with an average temperature of -1 to -4 °C. It snows a few times during the winter and temperatures below -10 °C are recorded occasionally.

For more information about the climate please click here.

Geography

The city of Olomouc lies at the confluence of two rivers - the Morava and the Bystřice. The flat character of the town is demarked by a distinctive, elevated relief in the west and especially in the east, so the city is enclosed into an elongated depression open towards northwest and southeast.
